

AUSLAN PREMIER DENOUNCES MANNIX AS SIN FEEL AGITATOR

MELBOURNE, Australia, Aug. 4.—W. A. Hughes, premier of Australia, speaking here today, attacked Archbishop Mannix, who now is on his way from the United States to the British Isles after having been notified he would be barred from Ireland by the British government. The premier's speech was virtually a reply to a statement made by Mannix in New York city by Archbishop Mannix on July 29 in which he vigorously denounced Mr. Hughes.

"Demonstrations in America favorable to Archbishop Mannix," said Mr. Hughes, "were carefully staged in a manner similar to that in Ireland in those arranged in Australia, and the people who acclaimed him there were Sinn Feiners, possibly mixed with Bolsheviks or other wild fanatics." Archbishop Mannix tionary trenches and barbed wire entanglements in front of Warsaw. The evacuation of the city is being ordered by the Polish government, which is of strategic importance in the defense of Warsaw.

According to last accounts, the Polish forces are being driven directly west along the Prussian frontier, and if the drive is continued it would endanger Warsaw's main line to Danzig.

According to accounts from the north, the village populations and school children are being hurriedly evacuated to the west, carrying their belongings to them and fleeing in every way possible to escape the advancing Russian army.

The American Relief association, which has food and clothing valued at $400,000, is shipping it to Thorn and other safe points. In a week's time the association will have most of its materials out of the city, unless there is a shortage of cars.

Cavalry Unengaged.
Berlin, Germany, Aug. 4.—A dispatch to the Berliner Mittung from Marlenwerder, West Prussia, reports it as the intention of the Bolsheviks to enter the Polish corridor at its southeastern end.

The frontier here, it says, is only indifferently protected by Polish guards, while Russian cavalry is being foraging ahead unmolested. Russian officers are quoted by the dispatch as declaring that "Russia proposes to restore the old Russian boundary and drive out the Poles from the corridor."

Messages report that in the Bolshevik army fighting is punished by death while for other offenses hard labor is the penalty.

Special advice from Marlenwerder states that the Russian fourth army, operating near the East Prussian frontier, is continuing its operations, moving mainly to the southwest. Several squadrons of Bolshevik cavalry are reported as proceeding along the frontier toward the west. Russians occupying Lomza are massing forces before Ostrołęka, an important railway center on the Warsaw river.

Soviet army leaders are said to have decreed the death penalty for violations of the German frontier. Large stores of military supplies and food are reported to have fallen into the hands of the Bolsheviks when they entered Minsk.

U. S. Officials Concerned.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—With the desperate plight of Poland and the situation in the Baltic, officials of the United States are today engaged in the serious consideration of government officials.

Despite reiterated appeals in the United States for aid, the Polish government of moral if not material aid, there has been no disposition shown among officials to reflect a departure of the United States of its neutral position.

Officials have held that it is unwise to enter the conflict, but that the United States should continue its present position. Whether the United States might move to depart from this position in the event of anything approaching a crisis in the relations of Russia toward Europe officials refrained from indicating.

On one occasion at least, it was revealed, this country was moved to take a hand for Poland in insisting that Czechoslovakia impose no obstacles to transportation through her territory of supplies destined for Poland. This action, however, was defended on the grounds that the supplies were purchased from this country by Poland prior to the outbreak of hostilities with Russia.

Latest information as to military operations received by the department indicated that Bialystok, northeast of Warsaw, has been lost. The Red army was reported to have passed Bransko, southeast of Bialystok.

The department dispatches also indicated that the Polish lines had been stiffened. The dispatches contained a report that two Bolshevik cavalry divisions had been concentrated near Bialystok, considerably to the south of Warsaw. Toward Lomza, on the Warsaw river, the west of Bialystok, the Bolsheviks were said to have made progress.

Americans Ask Aid.
New York, Aug. 4.—Twenty-five Americans, including a number of prominent names, have appealed to the state department through the charge d'affaires in Stockholm for aid in returning to the United States. It was stated by two members of the Jewish joint distribution committee on their return from Moscow. The Americans told them the commissioners said that while other governments had arranged for the return of their citizens from Russia, the United States had done nothing for marooned Americans.

Under Russia's communistic government, they said they were forced to distribute American relief supplies through a commission, named by the Soviet government.

Army Truck Hits Sprayer; Four Injured

Four men were painfully injured, a horse was killed and the county spraying machine was demolished Tuesday afternoon when an army truck veered across the road and crashed into the sprayer and the men operating it. Witnesses of the accident told county judge E. B. McClintock that the driver of the truck did not stop, but speeded up his machine and escaped.

Three of the injured men were taken to the county hospital, suffering from severe bruises and lacerations. They are Luis Escanilla, Rafael Gonzalez and Roman Provencio. Leonardo Calandilla also sustained painful injuries but was not taken to the hospital.

According to Judge E. B. McClintock, the men were spraying trees along the valley road, southeast of Val Verde. The army truck, witnesses said, was speeding but was running on the right side of the road, when it suddenly veered, as though the driver had lost control of the machine, and swung across the road and into the working gang on the scorching machine. The men working on the sprayer did not have time to jump to safety, witnesses said. The horse was almost instantly killed. The machine originally cost the city $450 but that since it was purchased the value of the machine has increased considerably. The matter was taken up with district military headquarters, and according to McClintock, will be reported to the attention of the military damage board here.

The lunch at the guest of Willis Ransome will be at the El Paso club again next week.

clearer and more uniform system for regulating such traffic.

The United States also will be invited to participate in the organization of the "International health office," which the council has decided to create. The object of this organization is to advise the league of nations on health matters, to bring the administrative health authorities of different countries into closer relations, to cooperate with the league of Red Cross societies, to organize health missions and to supervise the protection of working men from insalubrious conditions.

The council also decided that the league of nations has no authority to determine whether the expenses of the Sarsa boundary commission should be paid by the inhabitants of the region or by France and Germany jointly, as proposed by the council of ambassadors. It was decided to merely report the resolution concerning the Sarsa basin which was interpreted as requiring the inhabitants of that region to bear the expense.

The council will close its work here with a public gathering on Thursday.

City Needs More
Water, Asserts
Acting Mayor
El Paso faces the most serious housing shortage this winter she has ever known, was the warning issued by H. C. Semple, acting mayor, in a talk he made before the Kiwanis club at its weekly luncheon Wednesday night in the Kiwanis club.

Water shortage is also imminent, Mr. Semple said, if means are not taken without delay to add to the city's supply. The Kiwanis club, he explained, has the water bonds is to drill more wells under the rim of the mesa to give the city several million gallons more water daily. Highland Park, Mr. Semple said, and some of the other outlying districts, were in desperate circumstances, due to the smallness of the water pipes and the inadequacy of the supply.

Sewer extensions, park improvements, paving and street extensions are other things the city needs and for which bonds will be asked. Mr. Semple said that bonds for water works improvement would not add to the tax burden, but would in fact save it by saving thousands of dollars in the general fund. Last year, he said, was the first year the water works system had ever brought money to the general fund. The amount was $10,000. This year the sum will be $10,000, he predicted.

New streets will not add to the tax burden, the city official said, for the reason that new taxable values will be added to the city. Park improvements, he emphasized as a necessity in view of the rapid growth of the city and its need for improvement in keeping with metropolitan ideas.

Sam Gillett, the club's president, said when he first came to El Paso, he was told to buy the water. It was not furnished with the room, he declared.

T. J. Bain, auditor for a typewriter company of New York, was at the Binkley was here more than a year ago to be with her son, Rev. S. B. Binkley, who at that time was pastor of the Presbyterian church, but who is now located near Seattle. He and his sister, Miss Caroline Binkley, are the only surviving members of the family and were both present with the mother during the last days of her life and accompanied the body to Clarksville, where it will be buried beside her husband.

Miss Caroline Binkley will return here to make her home, while her brother, after a brief visit, will return to Washington.

James Isacks, of this place, who is in an El Paso hospital, is improving. His trouble is the result of an accidental discharge of a shotgun into his left arm last autumn, since which time he has had no use of his left arm, and even only a few weeks back it was feared amputation would be necessary. His wife is at the present time in El Paso.

July Short On Rain, But Year Is Normal; Past Weather History

El Paso's rainfall has been more generally distributed over the year than usual, and, while the community is short by 0.63 of an inch of rainfall since the first of January, July was much drier than the average July, only registering 0.84 of an inch rainfall as against an annual average of 2.13 for the month.

There was less rain during the month just closed than El Paso has experienced in a July since 1917, when July of that year only showed a total of 0.41 of an inch rainfall for the month.

In 1915, the rainfall for the month was only 0.53, but, aside from these two years, July has had less rain than this year. In 1916 the rainfall for July was 0.40 of an inch.

The most rain that ever fell in El Paso in July was in 1881, when the total recorded fell for the month was 4.25 inches. In 1884, a total of 5.54 inches fell in the city during July.

Regardless of the fact that some people may think it has been unusually warm in El Paso this year, the first half of the year as a whole was cooler than the average. There is, according to the U. S. weather bureau report, issued August 1, an average daily deficiency of temperature since January 1 of 0.1 of an inch and "an accumulated deficiency" of 17 degrees for the seven months.

The hottest day during the month just closed was 100. The thermometer registered that amount on the 15th and 16th. The lowest temperature was 54 on the 20th. The hottest day ever recorded for July in El Paso was 105 and the lowest 51.

HARVEST IS ON NEAR LA MESA
La Mesa, N. M., Aug. 4.—The big thrasher in the San Miguel district, has returned to La Mesa and will finish up thrashing in this community.

Cantaloupe shipments from this vicinity started Wednesday when a car was loaded from Vado. The melons were picked on the J. N. Ault and J. L. Esslinger farms. Others will come in later.

The road which is undergoing repairs between here and Vado will not be completed for another week.

A milking machine is being installed on the John Lewis farm. This is the third milking machine in the valley south of Las Cruces, the other two being at the Gillette and Price dairies. The dairy business is growing rapidly in the valley.

Several persons have been in auto accidents recently, but so far no one has been badly injured. Lloyd Ault's car was damaged in a crash with a big car a few miles north of El Paso. His second car was damaged in going over the rim of a canyon at the Gillette and Price dairies. The dairy business is growing rapidly in the valley.

Tampering With Valves Cuts Off
Supply Of Water
Deliberate tampering with valves was responsible for the failure of pumps to supply water to Altura, Grandview and parts of Highland Park up to noon Tuesday, according to acting mayor H. C. Semple.

Monday night the pump which lifts water to the reservoir from which these districts are supplied broke down, cutting off the water supply for several hours. Repairs were made, however, and pumping resumed early Tuesday morn. The water tank is pumped into the tank, which is at a high elevation, and from there runs by gravity to the consumers through two inch mains which merge a short distance from the tank. The valves in these two mains both were closed some time Tuesday morning, preventing any flow from going to the users, and causing several hundred families in the affected suburbs to be without water for several hours.

Many persons, locating only about a year ago in Columbus, is now recuperating in Hotel Pies. El Paso for six weeks he was in the hospital at Columbus suffering from blood poisoning and for a time it was feared he could not recover.

Mrs. A. H. Loomis, who has been in El Paso, will return here today with her husband.

Mrs. James G. Stuart, who recently underwent an operation in an El Paso hospital is doing nicely.

One Thousand Fall Suits And Dresses Whose Prices Were Reduced By Makers

HAVING been first to inaugurate the new in mode for the Autumn Season and having hinted broadly that prices are lower, we are now first to advise you authentically that PRICES ARE LOWER THAN THEY HAVE BEEN IN FIVE YEARS. We go a step further and tell you that quality and workmanship are better, too. The manufacturer, himself, lowered the prices, due to the fact that we and other wide awake retailers grinded this demand into the wholesale merchandising world months ago. Fortunately, though, we bought liberally at the early low market prices the pick of the lot. We in turn advise you to make selections for your Fall and Winter wardrobe now, while assortments are complete and varied and selections are choice, and, above all, while prices are so very low. Hundreds of coats, suits and dresses here for your approval.
